

REMARKS

The claim amendments indicated above are relative to the claims as amended during the international phase of the parent PCT application.

The claims have been amended so that they will better agree with accepted U.S. practice and form, to ensure proper, consistent antecedent basis for all terms, and to eliminate multiple dependencies. In particular, modifiers such as "loading," "unloading," and "recovery" have been added to the various pumps, valves and lines as appropriate to clearly distinguish these from one another and to avoid any confusion about antecedence.

The original independent claim 1 has been deleted in favor of new independent claim 13. This new base claim for claims 2-12 avoids the extensive use of markings that would have been required to amend claim 1 and should therefore be easier to read and parse.

A new independent claim 14 has been added. This claim is narrower than the other independent claim 13 in that it includes features recited in certain of the preceding claims.
